

Medical Assistance in Dying

Model Practice Standard

1.0 Preamble

Medical assistance in dying (MAID) has been legal in Québec since 2015 and in the rest of Canada since 2016¹. Since then, the law with respect to eligibility for MAID has continued to evolve.²

This Standard reflects the current state of Canadian law with respect to MAID (as established by the Criminal Code). Except where otherwise noted, this Standard applies to all MAID cases including requests for MAID where a mental disorder is the sole underlying medical condition (MAID MD-SUMC) when such requests become legal on March 17, 2024.³

Throughout the Standard, the terms ‘must’ and ‘should’ are used to articulate the regulatory authority’s expectations. ‘Must’ indicates a mandatory requirement. ‘Should’ indicates that physicians can use reasonable discretion when applying this expectation to practice.

This Standard must be interpreted in the context of federal⁴ legislation relating to MAID. Nothing in this Standard reduces a physician’s obligation to comply with any and all applicable laws.

This Standard must be read in conjunction with other applicable regulatory standards.

This Standard should also be read in conjunction with the Advice to the Profession: Medical Assistance in Dying (MAID) and the Canadian Medical Association Code of Ethics and Professionalism.

Physicians are encouraged to consult with the resources available through the Canadian Medical Protective Association, the Canadian Association of MAID Assessors and Providers, and relevant professional associations.

2.0 Purposes

2.1 This Standard has been established:

- 2.1.1 to provide information that will assist physicians and the public in understanding the eligibility criteria, procedural safeguards, and reporting requirements that must be met regarding MAID;

¹ Carter v Canada (Attorney General) [2015] 1 SCR 331. Bill C-14, An Act to amend the Criminal Code and to make related amendments to other Acts (medical assistance in dying), 1st Session, 42nd Parliament, 2016.

² Bill C-14, An Act to amend the Criminal Code (medical assistance in dying) 1st session, 42nd Parliament, 2016; Truchon c. Procureur général du Canada, 2019 QCCS 3792 (CanLII); Bill C-7, An Act to amend the Criminal Code (medical assistance in dying), 2nd Session, 43rd Parliament, 2021.

³ There are specific challenges related to the assessment of persons with intellectual disabilities and persons experiencing long-term incarceration that require additional recommendations from professional associations and community organizations working with persons with relevant lived experience. The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Newfoundland and Labrador will revise this Standard in light of any such recommendations as appropriate.

- 2.1.2 to set the professional expectations of physicians who are involved with MAID; and
- 2.1.3 to outline the specific legal requirements for MAID assessors and providers.

3.0 Reasonable Knowledge, Care, and Skill

- 3.1 MAID must be provided with reasonable knowledge, care, and skill and in accordance with any applicable provincial laws, rules, or standards.

4.0 Scope of Practice

- 4.1 Physicians must practice only within a scope for which they are appropriately trained, licensed, and competent.
- 4.2 Physicians who choose to assess eligibility for or provide MAID, must have sufficient training, experience, and qualifications to safely and competently do so in the circumstances of each case. This should include training in capacity assessment, trauma-informed care, and cultural safety and humility.

5.0 Responsibilities of Physicians Unable or Unwilling to Participate in MAID

- 5.1 No physician can be compelled to prescribe or administer substances for the purpose of MAID.
- 5.2 Physicians who are unable or unwilling to participate in MAID practice as set out in this Standard:⁵
 - 5.2.1 must take positive action to ensure the person seeking to make a request, requesting, or eligible to receive MAID is connected in a timely manner to a non-objecting, available, and accessible physician, nurse practitioner, or other health-care professional known to be willing to discuss eligibility for MAID, or the NL Health Service's MAID Coordination Service. (Note: 'Timely manner' means such that the person will not experience an adverse clinical outcome or prolonged suffering due to a delay in making the connection).
 - 5.2.2 must advise the person that they are not able or willing to assist with the making of a request for an assessment for MAID or the provision of MAID;
 - 5.2.3 must provide, with the consent of the person, all relevant and necessary health records to the physician or program providing services related to MAID;
 - 5.2.4 must continue to provide care and treatment not related to MAID if the person chooses; and

5.2.5 should make an effective referral or transfer of care to another physician if the person does not wish to remain in their care.

5.3 Physicians with an existing therapeutic relationship with a person requesting MAID (independent of the MAID request) must not discharge the person from their care on the grounds that a MAID request has been made or the person is also receiving services from a MAID team or centralized process.

6.0 Duties to Persons Potentially Eligible for MAID

6.1 Physicians must take reasonable steps to ensure persons are informed of the full range of treatment options available to relieve suffering.

6.2 Physicians must not assume all persons potentially eligible for MAID are aware that MAID is legal and available in Canada.

6.3 Upon forming reasonable grounds to believe that a person may be eligible for MAID, a physician must determine whether MAID is consistent with the person's values and goals of care and:

6.3.1 if consistent,

(a) advise the person of the potential for MAID; or

(b) take positive action to ensure the person requesting MAID is connected in a timely manner to a non-objecting, available, and accessible physician, nurse practitioner, or other health-care professional known to be willing to discuss eligibility for MAID, or the NL Health Service's MAID Coordination Service. (Note: 'Timely manner' means such that the person will not experience an adverse clinical outcome or prolonged suffering due to a delay in making the connection).

6.3.2 if not consistent, do not advise the person of the potential for MAID;

6.3.3 whether consistent or not, document what action was taken and the rationale for it.

6.4 Physicians must respond to all reasonable questions from persons regarding MAID or make an effective referral to another physician or program known to be willing to discuss eligibility for MAID.

6.5 When advising persons on their potential eligibility for MAID, physicians must take reasonable steps to ensure the person does not perceive coercion, inducement, or pressure to pursue or not pursue MAID. Advising persons of potential eligibility for MAID is distinct from counselling persons to consider MAID.

7.0 Involvement of Undergraduate and Postgraduate Learners

7.1 Postgraduate learners can participate in the MAID process, but must only do so within the terms, conditions, and limitations of their postgraduate training program licence.

- 7.2 Postgraduate learners and other physicians involved in assessing a person's eligibility for MAID must ensure that there is independence between the provider and the assessor. Specifically, the requirement for independence between the provider and assessor is not satisfied if one is a mentor or supervisor to the other.
- 7.3 Undergraduate learners must not act as assessors or providers. They may observe assessments and provisions but only with the express consent of the person.

8.0 Duties of Assessors and Providers

A. General

- 8.1 At least two practitioners must be involved in the assessment of eligibility of a person requesting MAID.
- 8.2 Assessors and providers must:
 - 8.2.1 be independent practitioners;
 - 8.2.2 act consistently with the College's Standard of Practice regarding treating family members or anyone with whom they have a close personal or emotional involvement; and
 - 8.2.3 complete all the required documentation and reporting as set out in section 16.0 below.
- 8.3 Assessors and providers must not disclose that a person has requested a MAID assessment or provision without the consent to do so from the person.

B. Duties of Providers

- 8.4 Physicians must not provide MAID on the direction of anyone other than the person requesting MAID.
- 8.5 Before providing MAID, providers must assess eligibility (see section 9.0) and ensure that all procedural safeguards are met (see section 10.0).
- 8.6 The provider who prescribes or obtains a substance for the purpose of MAID must, before the pharmacist dispenses the substance, inform the pharmacist that the substance is intended for that purpose.
- 8.7 Providers must ensure safe prescribing, use, storage, and return of substances related to the provision of MAID.

C. Duties of Assessors

- 8.8 Physicians must not conduct an assessment for MAID on the direction of anyone other than the person requesting MAID.
- 8.9 Assessors must provide a written opinion attesting to whether the person requesting MAID meets the eligibility criteria for MAID.

- 8.10 Where natural death is not reasonably foreseeable, assessors must discuss with the person requesting MAID the reasonable and available means to relieve the person's suffering and determine whether the person has given serious consideration to those means.⁶
- 8.11 Where natural death is not reasonably foreseeable and a reduction in the 90 day period is being considered by the provider, assessors must provide an opinion as to whether the loss of the person's capacity to provide consent to receive MAID is imminent.

9.0 Eligibility for MAID

A. Eligibility Criteria

- 9.1 Physicians must only provide MAID to a person requesting MAID where all the following eligibility criteria are met:
- 9.1.1 the person is eligible, or, but for any applicable minimum period of residence or waiting period, would be eligible for health services funded by a government in Canada;
 - 9.1.2 the person is at least 18 years of age and capable of making decisions with respect to their health;
 - 9.1.3 the person has made a voluntary request for MAID that, in particular, was not made as a result of external pressure;
 - 9.1.4 the person has given informed consent to receive MAID after having been informed of the means that are available to relieve their suffering, including palliative care;
 - 9.1.5 the person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition. These criteria are met only where the provider and assessor are of the opinion that:
 - (a) the person has a serious and incurable illness, disease, or disability;
 - (b) the person is in an advanced state of irreversible decline in capability; and
 - (c) the illness, disease, or disability or that state of decline causes the person enduring physical or psychological suffering that is intolerable to the person and cannot be relieved under conditions that the person considers acceptable.
- 9.2 Physicians must only apply the criteria for MAID eligibility set out in this Standard.

B. Assessing Eligibility

9.3 Capacity

- 9.3.1 To find a person eligible for MAID, the provider and assessor must be of the opinion that the person requesting MAID has capacity to make decisions with respect to MAID at the time of the MAID assessment.

⁶ While an assessor may discuss the means available to relieve the person's suffering for persons under Track 1, it is only a Criminal Code requirement that both the assessor and the provider do so for persons under Track 2.

9.3.2 When assessing for capacity to make decisions with respect to MAID, the provider and assessor must determine whether the person has the capacity to understand and appreciate:

- (a) the history and prognosis of their medical condition(s);
- (b) their treatment options and their risks and benefits; and
- (c) that the intended outcome of the provision of MAID is death.

9.3.3 As capacity is fluid and may change over time, physicians must be alert to potential changes in a person's capacity. Where appropriate, assessors and providers should undertake serial assessments of a person's decision-making capacity.

9.3.4 Where appropriate, assessors and providers should consult with clinicians with expertise in the assessment of decision-making capacity.

9.3.5 All capacity assessments must be conducted in accordance with clinical standards and legal criteria.

9.3.6 Assessors and providers must document the reasoning and evidence upon which their assessment of capacity was based.

9.4 Grievous and irremediable medical condition⁷

9.4.1 To find a person eligible for MAID, the provider and assessor must be of the opinion that the person has 'a grievous and irremediable medical condition.'

9.4.2 A person has a 'grievous and irremediable medical condition' if:

- (a) they have a serious and incurable illness, disease, or disability;
- (b) they are in an advanced state of irreversible decline in capability; and,
- (c) that illness, disease, or disability or that state of decline causes them enduring physical or psychological suffering that is intolerable to them and that cannot be relieved under conditions that they consider acceptable.

9.5 Serious and incurable illness, disease, or disability

9.5.1 To find a person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition, the provider and assessor must be of the opinion that the person has a serious and incurable illness, disease, or disability.

9.5.2 'Incurable' means there are no reasonable treatments remaining where reasonable is determined by the clinician and person together exploring the recognized, available, and potentially effective treatments in light of the person's overall state of health, beliefs, values, and goals of care.

⁷ 'Grievous and irremediable medical condition' is not standard clinical terminology, however, it is defined in the Criminal Code and explained below and in the document 'Advice to the Profession.'

- 9.6 An advanced state of irreversible decline in capability
- 9.6.1 To find a person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition, the provider and assessor must be of the opinion that the person is in an advanced state of irreversible decline in capability.
 - 9.6.2 Capability refers to a person's functioning (physical, social, occupational, or other important areas), not the symptoms of their condition. Function refers to the ability to undertake those activities that are meaningful to the person.
 - 9.6.3 'Advanced state of decline' means the reduction in function is severe.
 - 9.6.4 'Irreversible' means there are no reasonable interventions remaining where reasonable is determined by the clinician and person together exploring the recognized, available, and potentially effective interventions in light of the person's overall state of health, beliefs, values, and goals of care.
- 9.7 Enduring physical or psychological suffering that is intolerable to them and that cannot be relieved under conditions that they consider acceptable.
- 9.7.1 To find that a person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition, the provider and assessor must be of the opinion that the person's illness, disease, or disability or state of decline causes the person enduring physical or psychological suffering that is intolerable to them and that cannot be relieved under conditions that they consider acceptable.
 - 9.7.2 For the purposes of forming the opinion that the suffering criterion for MAID is met, assessors and providers:
 - (a) must explore all dimensions of the person's suffering (physical, psychological, social, existential) and the means available to relieve them;
 - (b) must explore the consistency of the person's assessment of their suffering with the person's overall clinical presentation, expressed wishes over time, and life narrative;
 - (c) must be of the opinion that it is the person's illness, disease, or disability and/or state of decline in capability that is the cause of the person's suffering;
 - (d) must be of the opinion that the suffering is enduring; and
 - (e) must respect the subjectivity of suffering.

C. Voluntariness

- 9.8 To find a person eligible for MAID, assessors and providers must be satisfied that the person's decision to request MAID has been made freely, without undue influence (contemporaneous or past) from family members, health care providers, or others.
- 9.9 Assessors and providers must be familiar with and adhere to any provincial requirements relating to MAID for persons who are involuntarily hospitalized or under a Community Treatment Order. Similarly, they must be familiar with and adhere to any provincial or federal requirements re: MAID for persons who are being held under a Not Criminally Responsible order or are incarcerated.

D. Informed Consent

9.10 Providers must obtain informed consent directly from the person requesting MAID, not the substitute decision-maker of an incapable person.

9.11 When seeking informed consent, providers must:

- 9.11.1 discuss all reasonable, accepted, and available treatment options with the person requesting MAID, including the associated benefits, risks, and side effects, which include informing the person of the means that are available to relieve their suffering, including palliative care;
- 9.11.2 inform the person whose natural death is not reasonably foreseeable of the means available to relieve their suffering, including, where appropriate, counselling services, mental health and disability support services, community services, and palliative care and offer consultations with relevant professionals who provide those services or that care;
- 9.11.3 inform the person that they may, at any time and in any manner, withdraw their request for MAID, and that they will be given an opportunity to withdraw their request immediately before MAID is provided (except where there is a valid final consent waiver – see section 13.0 below);
- 9.11.4 inform the person requesting MAID of any possible complications associated with provider-administered and self-administered MAID, including the possibility that death may not occur; and
- 9.11.5 inform the person who is indicating a preference for self-administered MAID that if the person's death is prolonged or not achieved, it will not be possible for the provider to intervene and administer a substance causing their death unless the person is capable and can provide consent immediately prior to administering, or the person has entered into a written arrangement providing advance consent for physician - administered MAID (see section 14.0 below).

10.0 Procedural Safeguards

A. Procedural Safeguards

10.1 Before providing MAID to a person whose natural death is reasonably foreseeable (Track 1), taking into account all of their medical circumstances, without a prognosis necessarily having been made as to the specific length of time that they have remaining, the provider must:

10.1.1 be of the opinion that the person meets all of the eligibility criteria for MAID;

10.1.2 ensure that the person's request for MAID was:

- (a) made in writing and signed and dated by the person (or by another person as

- permitted by law); and
- (b) signed and dated after the person was informed by a physician or nurse practitioner that the person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition;
- 10.1.3 be satisfied that the request was signed and dated by the person, or by another person as permitted by law,⁸ before an independent witness who then also signed and dated the request;
- 10.1.4 ensure that the person has been informed that they may, at any time and in any manner, withdraw their request;
- 10.1.5 ensure that another physician or nurse practitioner has provided a written opinion confirming that the person meets all of the eligibility criteria for MAID;
- 10.1.6 be satisfied that they and the assessor are independent of each other;
- 10.1.7 if the person has difficulty communicating, take all necessary measures to provide a reliable means by which the person may understand the information that is provided to them and communicate their decision; and
- 10.1.8 unless the conditions for a waiver of final consent or advance consent – self-administration have been met (see sections 13.0 and 14.0), immediately before providing MAID, give the person an opportunity to withdraw their request and ensure that the person gives express consent to receive MAID.
- 10.2 Before providing MAID to a person whose natural death is not reasonably foreseeable taking into account all of their medical circumstances (Track 2), the provider must:
 - 10.2.1 be of the opinion that the person meets all of the eligibility criteria for MAID;
 - 10.2.2 ensure that the person’s request for MAID was:
 - (a) made in writing and signed and dated by the person or by another person as permitted by law; and
 - (b) signed and dated after the person was informed by a physician or nurse practitioner that the person has a grievous and irremediable medical condition;
 - 10.2.3 be satisfied that the request was signed and dated by the person — or by another person as permitted by law — before an independent witness who then also signed and dated the request;

⁸ If the person requesting MAID is unable to sign and date the request, another person — who is at least 18 years of age, who understands the nature of the request for MAID and who does not know or believe that they are a beneficiary under the will of the person making the request, or a recipient, in any other way, of a financial or other material benefit resulting from that person’s death — may do so in the person’s presence, on the person’s behalf and under the person’s express direction.

- 10.2.4 ensure that the person has been informed that the person may, at any time and in any manner, withdraw their request;
- 10.2.5 ensure that another physician or nurse practitioner has provided a written opinion confirming that the person meets all of the eligibility criteria for MAID;
- 10.2.6 if neither they nor the assessor has expertise in the condition that is causing the person's suffering, ensure that they or the assessor consults with a physician or nurse practitioner who has that expertise and shares the results of that consultation with the other practitioner (see section 10.3.7 for further content on 'expertise');
- 10.2.7 be satisfied that they and the assessor are independent of each other;
- 10.2.8 ensure that the person has been informed of the means available to relieve their suffering, including, where appropriate, counselling services, mental health and disability support services, community services, and palliative care and has been offered consultations with relevant professionals who provide those services or that care;
- 10.2.9 ensure that they and the assessor have discussed with the person the reasonable and available means to relieve the person's suffering and they and the assessor agree with the person that the person has given serious consideration to those means;
- 10.2.10 ensure that there are at least 90 clear days between the day on which the first eligibility assessment for the current request begins and the day on which MAID is provided to them or — if the assessments have been completed and they and the assessor are both of the opinion that the loss of the person's capacity to provide consent to receive MAID is imminent — any shorter period that the provider considers appropriate in the circumstances;
- 10.2.11 if the person has difficulty communicating, take all necessary measures to provide a reliable means by which the person may understand the information that is provided to them and communicate their decision; and
- 10.2.12 unless the conditions for an advance consent – self-administration have been met (see section 14.0), immediately before providing MAID, give the person an opportunity to withdraw their request and ensure that the person gives express consent to receive MAID.

B. Implementing Procedural Safeguards

10.3 Being of the opinion (Tracks 1 and 2 unless otherwise noted)

- 10.3.1 Before a physician provides MAID, they must be of the opinion that the person meets all of the eligibility criteria set out in the Criminal Code and the assessor must have provided a written opinion confirming the person meets the eligibility criteria.
- 10.3.2 Assessors and providers must only provide opinions on MAID eligibility that are within their scope of practice.

10.3.3 When providing opinions on MAID eligibility, physicians should respect existing ethical norms as found for example, in the Canadian Medical Association's Code of Ethics and Professionalism.

10.3.4 Forming an opinion about MAID eligibility may require the provider or assessor to undertake certain actions:

10.3.4.1 Obtaining health records

- (a) Assessors and providers must attempt to obtain all health records and personal data that is necessary for the completion of a MAID assessment.
- (b) Where a capable person refuses consent to obtaining health record and personal data necessary for the completion of a MAID assessment, the assessors and providers must explain that, without such information, the assessment cannot be completed and therefore the person cannot be found to be eligible.

10.3.4.2 Gathering collateral information (including from treating team, family members, and significant contacts)

- (a) Assessors and providers must attempt to obtain all collateral information necessary for the completion of a MAID assessment. This may include information known to the current or previous treating team and/or family members and/or significant contacts.
- (b) The provider and assessor must have received consent from the capable person prior to gathering collateral information.
- (c) Where a capable person refuses consent to obtaining collateral information necessary for the completion of a MAID assessment, then the assessors and providers must explain that without such information, the assessment cannot be completed and therefore the person cannot be found to be eligible.

10.3.4.3 Involvement of other healthcare professionals

- (a) Assessors and providers should involve medical specialists, subspecialists, and other healthcare professionals for consultations and additional expertise where necessary and with the consent of the person requesting MAID.
- (b) Where a capable person refuses consent to the involvement of other health care practitioners that is necessary for the completion of a MAID assessment, then the assessors and providers must explain that without such involvement, the assessment cannot be completed and therefore the person cannot be found to be eligible.

10.3.5 Means available to relieve suffering (only Track 2)

- 10.3.5.1 Before a physician provides MAID, they must ensure that the person has been informed of the means available to relieve their suffering, including, where appropriate, counselling services, mental health and disability support services, community services, and palliative care and has been offered consultations with relevant professionals who provide those services or that care.
- 10.3.5.2 ‘Community services’ must be interpreted as including housing and income supports.
- 10.3.5.3 ‘Means available’ must be interpreted as available means that are reasonable and recognized.
- 10.3.5.4 Informing and offering of consultations may be achieved by the physician or by others with relevant knowledge (e.g., social workers, the person’s family physician or most responsible provider) about the means of relieving suffering (e.g., community services). The provider must confirm that the requester has been informed of the means available and consultations with the relevant professionals have been offered.

10.3.6 Serious consideration of the reasonable and available means to relieve the person’s suffering (only Track 2)

- 10.3.6.1 Before a physician provides MAID, they must ensure that they and the assessor have discussed with the person the reasonable and available means to relieve the person’s suffering and they and the assessor agree with the person that the person has given serious consideration to those means.
- 10.3.6.2 Serious consideration must be understood to mean: a) exercising capacity, not merely having it; b) exhibiting careful thought; and c) not being impulsive.

10.3.7 Practitioner with expertise – consulting (where neither assessor has expertise in the condition causing suffering) (only Track 2)

- 10.3.7.1 If neither the provider nor the assessor has expertise in the condition that is causing the person’s suffering, the provider must ensure that they or the assessor consult with a physician or nurse practitioner who has that expertise and share the results of that consultation with the other practitioner.
- 10.3.7.2 A ‘practitioner with expertise’ is not required to have a specialist designation. Rather, expertise can be obtained through physician or nurse education, training, and substantial experience in treating the condition causing the person’s suffering.

- 10.3.7.3 Physicians must ensure that they have the expertise necessary to provide the consultation. In doing so, they must work within their scope of practice.
- 10.3.7.4 The ‘practitioner with expertise’ under this provision of the Criminal Code is providing a consultation to the assessor and provider, not a MAID eligibility assessment.
- 10.3.7.5 A review of the requester’s prior health records (including past specialist consultation reports) can be an important part of a complete MAID eligibility assessment. However, such a review does not constitute ‘consultation’ for the purposes of section 10.2.6 as that requires direct contemporaneous communication with the practitioner with expertise.

11.0 Additional Considerations Relating to Eligibility Assessments and Procedural Safeguards

A. Suicidality

- 11.1 Assessors and providers must take steps to ensure that the person’s request for MAID is consistent with the person’s values and beliefs, and is unambiguous and enduring. They must ensure it is rationally considered during a period of stability, and not during a period of crisis. This may require serial assessments.
- 11.2 A request for MAID by a person with a mental disorder in the absence of any criteria for involuntary admission as enumerated in province mental health legislation, is not grounds for involuntary psychiatric assessment or admission (see Advice to the Profession for more detail).
- 11.3 Assessors and providers must consider making a referral for suicide prevention supports and services for persons who are found to be ineligible for MAID if, in the opinion of the assessor, the finding increases the individual’s risk of suicide.

B. Challenging Interpersonal Dynamics

- 11.4 Assessors and providers must be alert to challenging interpersonal dynamics such as threatening behaviours of MAID requesters or their family members. If these challenging dynamics compromise the ability to carry out the assessment in accordance with professional norms, assessors and providers should seek information and/or advice from mentors and colleagues, and/or discontinue involvement in the assessment process (see Advice to the Profession for more details).

12.0 Virtual Care

- 12.1 Physicians may assess a person’s request for MAID and obtain consultations in relation to MAID virtually.
- 12.2 When assessing a person for MAID eligibility virtually, physicians must:

- 12.2.1 confirm the person agrees with the assessment proceeding virtually;
- 12.2.2 determine that a valid conclusion can be drawn about the person's eligibility for MAID; and
- 12.2.3 ensure that the assessment aligns with the provisions of other relevant College Standards.

13.0 Glossary

90-day period	for requesters whose natural death is not reasonably foreseeable, this refers to the minimum 90 clear days that must have passed between the day on which a Track 2 assessment by a provider or assessor begins and the day on which MAID is provided.
Advance Consent Self-Administration	consent to receive MAID given by a person with capacity before the loss of capacity in the context of self-administered MAID.
Assessor	the physician or nurse practitioner who provides a written opinion as to whether the person requesting MAID meets the eligibility criteria for MAID.
Capacity	the legal status of being able to provide informed consent for or refusal of healthcare interventions (i.e., having decision-making capacity).
Clinical Practice Guidelines, or "Guidelines"	documents typically developed by healthcare professional associations that summarize knowledge about a particular practice area and offer recommendations based on that knowledge to support clinician decision-making in specific circumstances.
Collateral Information	information provided about a person by the person's treating team, family members, or significant contacts.
Cultural Safety	an outcome based on respectful engagement that recognizes and strives to address power imbalances inherent in the health care system. It results in an environment free of racism and discrimination including intersections with for example, gender, where people feel safe when receiving health care. ⁹
Cultural Humility	a process of self-reflection to understand personal and systemic biases and to develop and maintain respectful processes and relationships based on mutual trust. Cultural humility involves humbly acknowledging oneself as a learner when it comes to understanding another's experience. ¹⁰

¹⁰ ibid.

Effective Referral	taking positive action to ensure the person requesting MAID is connected in a timely manner to a non-objecting, available, and accessible physician or nurse practitioner, other health-care professional, or the NL Health Service's MAID Coordination Service. 'Timely manner' means such that the person will not experience an adverse clinical outcome or prolonged suffering due to a delay in making the connection.
Eligibility Criteria	the criteria set out in section 9.0 of this Standard which must be met by a person in order to access MAID. 'Eligible' and 'eligibility' have similar meanings.
Guidance Document	A document prepared by an organization (professional society, regulator or other) that offers non-binding recommendations on a specific topic.
Health Professional Association	a non-governmental organization representing specific types or groups of professionals. Depending on their mandate, health professional associations may seek to advance the professional interests of their members, advocate for patients, develop clinical practice guidelines, and support research and educational activities for their members.
Independent Practitioner	a physician or nurse practitioner who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) is not a mentor to the other practitioner or responsible for supervising their work; (b) does not know or believe that they are a beneficiary under the will of the person making the request, or a recipient, in any other way, of a financial or other material benefit resulting from that person's death, other than standard compensation for their services relating to the request; and (c) does not know or believe that they are connected to the other practitioner or to the person making the request in any other way that would affect their objectivity.
Independent Witness	an individual who is at least 18 years of age, who understands the nature of the request for MAID, and who is not excluded from acting as a witness to a person's request for MAID for any reason, including the limitations set out in s.241.2 of the Criminal Code or any other legislative requirement.
Informed Consent	consent provided by a person who has the capacity to make the decision and has been given an adequate explanation about the nature of the proposed intervention and its anticipated outcome(s) as well as the potential benefits and material risks involved and alternatives available.

Medical Assistance in Dying (MAID)	an umbrella term that includes clinician-administered MAID and self-administered MAID. These practices include what is sometimes called euthanasia (clinician-administered), assisted suicide (self-administered), or voluntary assisted dying in other jurisdictions.
MAID MD-SUMC	MAID where a mental disorder (see definition below) is the sole underlying medical condition.
Mental Disorder	a mental disorder is a condition as described in standard psychiatric diagnostic classification schemes such as the DSM5-TR. ¹¹ The Criminal Code uses the term ‘mental illness.’ According to the federal legislative background document prepared for Bill C-7, the term ‘mental illness’ would not include neurocognitive or neurodevelopmental disorders, or other conditions that may affect cognitive abilities, such as dementias, autism spectrum disorders, or intellectual disabilities. ¹²
Nurse Practitioner	a registered nurse who, under the laws of a province or territory, is entitled to practice as a nurse practitioner – or under an equivalent designation.
Physician	a person who is entitled to practice medicine under the laws of a province or territory.
Provider	the physician or nurse practitioner who assesses whether the person requesting MAID meets the eligibility criteria for MAID, ensures that the procedural safeguards have been met and, if so, provides MAID.
Provider-administered MAID	the administering by a physician or nurse practitioner of a substance to a person, at their request, that causes their death.
Reasonably Foreseeable Natural Death	According to the only Canadian court to opine on the interpretation of ‘natural death has become reasonably foreseeable’: [79] natural death need not be imminent and that what is a reasonably foreseeable death is a person-specific medical question to be made without necessarily making, but not necessarily precluding, a prognosis of the remaining lifespan. [80] ... in formulating an opinion, the physician need not opine about the specific length of time that the person requesting medical assistance in dying has remaining in his or her lifetime.¹³ The interpretation of ‘natural death has become reasonably foreseeable’

remains the same under Bill C-7 as it was under Bill C-14.¹⁴

Safeguards	refers to protective legislative measures enacted through the Criminal Code .
Self-administered MAID	the prescribing or providing by a physician or nurse practitioner of a substance to a person, at their request, so that they may self-administer the substance and in doing so cause their own death.
Track 1	refers to the procedural safeguards applicable to a request for MAID made by a person whose natural death is reasonably foreseeable.
Track 2	refers to the procedural safeguards applicable to a request for MAID made by a person whose natural death is not reasonably foreseeable.
Trauma-informed Services	integrate an understanding of trauma and prioritize the individual's safety, choice, and control in service delivery. Such services create a treatment culture of nonviolence, learning, and collaboration. Utilizing a trauma-informed approach does not necessarily require disclosure of trauma. Rather, services are provided in ways that recognize the need for physical and emotional safety, as well as choice and control in decisions affecting one's treatment. A key aspect of trauma-informed services is to create an environment where service users do not experience re-traumatization and where they can learn coping or self-regulation skills and make decisions about their treatment needs at a pace that feels safe to them. ¹⁵
Virtual Care	encompasses all means by which healthcare providers remotely interact with their patients using communications and digital technology.
Waiver of Final Consent	an arrangement in writing between the person (on Track 1) requesting MAID and their provider that the provider would administer substances to cause their death after they have lost decision-making capacity.
